

I live in a small rural community. Positive and encouraging programming - be it radio or television - is not in great supply. There is so much negativity, immorality and depressing programming. K-Love is a radio station that fills a very important void. For me, Christian programming helps to keep my focus where it should be throughout the day - stresses, anxiety and anger are reduced by the music and other programs that they present. Displacing this station with an LPFM broadcaster would eliminate the only positive and encouraging avenue of programming available in this area. To know that they are only a phone call away when you need someone with whom to talk; to have that "perfect" song played - just when it's needed....these are things that would be lost with an LPFM broadcaster. This is a country of equal opportunity. K-Love (and other stations that utilize FM translator services) would lose that guarantee of an equal opportunity. K-Love is listener-supported; there is no commercial support. The fact that it has existed for so many years states clearly that there is a broad level of listeners supporting this form of programming. To eliminate it via LPFM broadcasting would be unfair to all those who depend upon K-Love and other stations like it. I pray that you will not allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator services. So many lives have been touched by stations such as K-Love; I pray that you will allow God to continue His work through such stations. Thank you.
